

Jonathan Lewis and Jonathan Adler

Published: June 8, 2008

Jonathan Lewis was married Saturday evening to Jonathan Michael Adler. Suellen Johnson, a friend of the couple, received permission from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to officiate at the Wequassett Resort and Golf Club in Chatham, Mass. Another friend, Charles Munitz, the president of Temple B'nai Brith in Somerville, Mass., took part in the ceremony, which included a Jewish blessing.

Mr. Lewis and Mr. Adler met at Northwestern, from which they both received master's degrees, Mr. Lewis in higher education administration and policy and Mr. Adler in clinical psychology. Mr. Lewis also has an undergraduate degree from the university.

Mr. Lewis (above, left), 27, is the assistant director of the student union at the University of Chicago. He is the secretary of the board of the Neo-Futurists, a theater company in Chicago.

Mr. Lewis is a son of Lucy Lewis of Plantation, Fla., and Alan Lewis of Pembroke Pines, Fla. His mother teaches language arts at Plantation Middle School. His father and stepmother, Ellen Kracoff, are partners in a law firm bearing their names in Davie, Fla.

Mr. Adler, 29, is in his sixth year of study toward a doctorate in clinical and personality psychology at Northwestern. Next month, he is to start a clinical psychology internship at the Jesse Brown Veterans Affairs Medical Center in Chicago. He graduated from Bates College.

Mr. Adler is the son of Jill Adler and Dr. David Adler of Newton, Mass. His mother, a clinical social worker, is a psychotherapist there. His father is a senior psychiatrist at Tufts Medical Center in Boston and a senior scientist at its Institute for Clinical Research and Health Policy Studies. Dr. Adler is also a professor at the school of medicine at Tufts.
