For those who have a Brican system, there is the lease, and then there is the payment that you are supposed to get every month. Towards the end of '09, they offered a one time payment at the beginning of 2010 in lieu of your 4th quarter payment in '09. Well, now Viso, the company that makes the payments is in 'financial difficulty', and there are no payments forthcoming. At the same time, the leases have been sold to another company and they were not aware of the clause that allows us to break the lease if payments are not made.

SO, that being said, I am now going to attempt to break my lease and return my system as I don't want to pay $500./+mo for a very average waiting room education system.

I am wondering if anyone else has already been through this and had any pointers, advice, anecdotes, etc that might make it easier for me and my friends who now have this small issue.

Just curious who told you that. I just received my yearly money a couple of days ago as expected. I just spoke to the company about creating some new custom shows for me and there was no mention of what you are saying.

Let me know, since once the payments stop coming you are able to end your lease

I too have not received my payment Brican. When I called Brican, they stated that I would not be receiving my check. When I asked to cancel, they referred me to their legal department. The Brican lease's were sold to another leasing company that apparently did not purchase the "cancellation clause".

Len - Did you sign up for Brican after Dr. Joseph's course in Philly a few months ago? I know I saw you there as I recognized you from your Philly mag ad. The offer they had there was for half the money per month that I should be getting and still haven't, so maybe they are paying out the lower contracts first.

Still working on this.

Keep us updated. I have Brican and didnt' get the quartly payment, nor did I get the letter about the payout..I called twice today to no avail. When I first signed up, I had no problems talking to anyone. Now it is one thing after another.....even technical support has been bad lately, when it was excellent in the beginning.....

I never got paperwork about my lease being sold to another company. Even if they didn't buy the 'cancellation clause' what is our recourse? I signed with Brican and was never told of any other company being due the money.

Looks like lawyer time?
