OPENING REMARKS & KEYNOTE SPEAKER: WINNING LEADERSHIP—EVERY SECOND COUNTS

Since 1976 Jim Boeheim has been the head basketball coach at Syracuse University. The 2005-06 Syracuse team ended its season in a familiar place – the NCAA Tournament that was Jim's 30th campaign at the helm of his alma mater's basketball program resulting in a 23-12 record and the 25th NCAA post season appearance of his tenure. We invite you to come meet Mr. Boeheim, learn about his coaching style, and what it's like to be one of the rare individuals to spend his entire basketball career as a player, assistant coach, and head coach at only one school.

10:00 AM – 11:00 AM

DENNIS BROWN FROM ELFA: BUREAUCRACY AND LEASING—GETTING INVOLVED MATTERS

Learn what it's like to represent the leasing industry amongst state legislators. The equipment leasing industry is an unknown from the vantage point of most policy-makers in state government. Misconceptions and erroneous beliefs abound. This presentation will include discussions of specific issues including electronic recycling and an increasing problem of legislation seeking to dictate lease contract provisions. Learn how and why it's time to get involved at the state and local level where you live.

11:00 AM – 12:30 PM

GET YOUR GOOGLE GOING

Thought Google was only a search engine? Wrong! Andrew Steggles of RIMS will give you the full insight into one of the most dynamic marketing tools of the century.

SPEAKER BIOS

JAMES ARTHUR "JIM" BOEHEIM WINNING LEADERSHIP—EVERY SECOND COUNTS

Jim Boeheim's 2005-06 Syracuse team ended its season in a familiar place – the NCAA Tournament. His 30th campaign at the helm of his alma mater's basketball program resulted in a 23-12 record and the 25th NCAA post season appearance of his tenure. Boeheim guided his club to a 20-win campaign for the 28th time in his career. He also led the Orange to a second consecutive BIG EAST Conference Tournament title.

The season started off with a bang as Boeheim was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in September. He's been honored again during the post season, receiving the John R. Wooden "Legends of Coaching" Award in April. Boeheim joined previous recipients Dean Smith, Mike Krzyzewski, Lute Olson, Denny Crum, Roy Williams, Mike Montgomery and Jim Calhoun. On April 21 he and Connecticut coach Jim Calhoun will be the "Spirit of Jimmy V" honorees at the annual V Foundation Gala.

Hall of Fame selection has capped a remarkable climb for the native of Lyons, N.Y. Boeheim enrolled at Syracuse in 1962 and was a walk-on with the basketball team that year. By Boeheim's senior season, he was a team captain along with the legendary Dave Bing. The Orange were 22-6 overall that year and earned the team's second-ever NCAA Tournament berth.

After graduating with a bachelor's degree in social science, Boeheim played professional basketball with Scranton of the Eastern League. He was a member of two championship squads and earned second-team all-star honors.

A three-time BIG EAST Coach of the Year, Boeheim has been honored as District II Coach of the Year 10 times by the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC). During the 2000 Final Four he was presented with the Claire Bee Award in recognition of his contributions to the sport. In the fall of 2000, he received Syracuse University's Arents Award, the school's highest alumni honor.

In 2001 was named USA Basketball National Coach of the Year after leading the Young Men's Team to the gold medal at the World Championship in Japan. It marked his seventh year of USA Basketball coaching experience. He was recently named as an assistant to Duke Coach Mike Krzyzewski on the USA Basketball staff for the Men's Senior Team that will compete in the 2008 Olympics.

A champion of many charitable causes, Boeheim has been most active with "Coaches vs. Cancer," a national fund raising organization affiliated with the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC) and the American Cancer Society. Boeheim's local campaign has led all others in money raised for seven of the last eight years. He has also lent his time to Crouse Hospital's Kienzle Family Maternity Center, the Children's Miracle Network, the Make-A-Wish Foundation, the Pioneer Center for the Blind and Disabled, Lighthouse, People in Wheelchairs, Easter Seals, the Special Olympics, the Rescue Mission and the Jack Bruen Fund. The Crouse Health Foundation chose Boeheim as its honoree for Tribute Evening 2003, the Foundation's annual fund raising gala. In May 2005, he received the James P. Wilmot Cancer Center Inspiration Award from the University of Rochester Medical Center.

Jim and his wife, Juli, are parents of James Arthur Boeheim, III, and twins Jack and Jamie. Jim also has a daughter, Elizabeth.

ANDREW STEGGLES GET YOUR GOOGLE GOING

Andrew Steggles is the Chief Information Officer for the Risk and Insurance Management Society (RIMS) in New York City. RIMS is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to advancing the practice of risk management, a professional discipline that protects physical, financial, and human resources. Founded in 1950, RIMS is the world's largest association for risk management, representing over 4,000 industrial, service, nonprofit, charitable, and governmental entities. The Society serves more than 7,500 individuals representing its member companies/organizations in 89 chapters across the United States and Canada.

Mr. Steggles has more than 15 years experience in both the public and private sectors. In 1995, after serving 9 years as a communications specialist in the British Royal Navy (RN), he joined The Mortgage Operation, Plc (TMO) as a senior project manager leading a team of programmers to develop one of the United Kingdom's first on-line mortgage banking applications.

Widely recognized as an authority on Information Technology and strategic planning, Mr. Steggles has been a visiting lecturer at Thames Valley University on a variety of topics, including software project management, structured systems analysis, business process re-engineering, and database design and implementation. In 1997, he conceptualized and wrote the UK's first four-day course—"Assessing and Managing the Year 2000 Problem"—to be accredited by the Information Technology National Training Organization (ITNTO).

A regular speaker for the Thames Valley Chamber of Commerce on many information technology topics, Mr. Steggles is known for his hands-on approach combined with a determination to succeed and an ability to take advantage of the very latest technologies while aligning information technology with business strategy.
